'And so the delegates discussed and talked around the subject, each afraid to spring a resolution lest it might be premature. In this con-dition Mr. Debs found the conference; he realized the difficult task he had to perform; the men he was to address were not amateurs in the methods of labor or-sanizations. Then he sjoke in favor of a general strike.

"A sharp exchange of words between Secretary McGuire, of the carpenters, and Mr. Debs followed, Mr. Debs having the better of it; but the discussion broke the spell. The delegates were once more business men and Mr. Debs soon realized it, for he changed his tactics at once.

"I have a telegram from Washington, he said. The President is going to appoint an arbitration committee, so I have prepared the following document, which, with the consent of this conference, I would wish President Gompers to present to the Board of General Managers."

ence, I would wish President Gompers to present to the Board of General Managers."

"He then proceeded to read the document presented by Mayor Hopkins, calling of the strike upon condition that the old men would be reinstated. He left the document, and the conference promised to send him an answer.

"A little reflection on the part of the delegates, and they realized that if Mr. Gompers was the bearer of the mesage and the managers refused to accept it, the A. F. of L. would be placed in an embarrassing position. It was resolved to tell Mr. Debs that he could choose any three gentlemen in the Convention, who, with an equal number of citizens and Mr. Debs, should call upon the Board of Managers, but Mr. Gompers must not go alone.

"Hour after hour the conference waited for Mr. Debs's reply, but none came until the afternoon papers anaounced the fact that Mayor Hopkins had presented the document, and that President Debs had dumped the conference.

Egenberger Accuses Administrator
Bauschbach of Perjury.
An order to show cause was issued by the Surrogate's Court upon the application of Lawyer Louis Steckier, of 25 Broadway, attorney for Palden Egenberger why William Bauschbach, his uncle, should not be removed as administrator in the East Sixy-seventh street station, indicted for receiving a bribe from a saloon-keeper, pleaded not guilty before Judge Cowing, in Part I., of the Court of General Sessions, this morning.

It appears from Egenberger's affidavit that in October, 1893, Bauschbach came to this country from Baden, Germany, and in his petition for his appointment as administrator swore that he was a resident of the city of New York, and that he was the only next of kin entitled to share in the estate of his sister. It is alleged that Bauschbach was not and is not now a resident of the city, and that Egenberger and his six sisters and brothers are entitled to ene-half of the estate, they being the children of a sister of the deceased.
